

Earn a full-time job offer from your internship by following these tricks

1) Understand the company and its business :

- do a thorough research about the company, the nature of its business, current projects, and future goals to get a clear idea of what you are signing up for and how you can contribute towards the company's holistic growth. know more about its culture, ethics and expectations from the employees.

2) Express enthusiasm and take the initiative:

- perform every single job assigned to you with great enthusiasm , This will allow the company to put its trust in your abilities and equip you with greater responsibilities.
- collaboration skills: When you're done, help others with their tasks.

3) Don't hesitate to ask questions, stay curious:

- employers wish to hire individuals whose minds constantly burn with a sense of curiosity to know and learn
- asking questions will save you from committing errors, boost your confidence, and improve the quality of your work.

4)Follow workplace etiquette:

- Be on time for everything, including turning in reports, getting to the office, and attending meetings

- be very mindful of how you dress, communicate and behave with your colleagues and seniors.
- learn to respect professional boundaries and never invade the private space of others

5)Focus on networking with others

- This makes it simpler for you to access their extensive network and get in direct contact with some of the leading experts in the field, as well as facilitating the easy sharing of knowledge and information.
- Additionally, even if you don't get a job-offer in the same organisation, networking can open a bunch of job opportunities in the future.